

ALT Text of Logo: A tall blue rectangle, like the universal accessibility sign, with a circle outline in the center; 25 percent of the circle is colored in lime green, 75 percent is colored in white. Below the circle, says "1IN4." Number 1 is in lime green color and 1IN4 is in white.

1IN4 Authentic Disability Representation Rubric

The primary objective of the 1IN4 rubric is to evaluate the authenticity of how disability is included on the screen. In instances where disability is entirely absent, the rubric serves as a powerful indication that the work lacks inclusivity and, thus, fails to mirror the diverse global population in which 1 in 4 individuals are disabled.

Twenty Five percent of the U.S. population holds enormous revenue potential. The higher the rubric score, the greater the audience reach.

Instructions: There are 5 categories with a maximum of 5 points available for each category. Total score will range from 0-25 points; 25 being the highest score.

Categories

1. Acting: Authentically disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf talent
2. Staff: Pre/production/post hired disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf staff
3. HOD: Disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf producers/heads of department (positions of influence)
4. Subject matter/story
5. Project development status

Category 1: Authentically disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf talent

**Placement of specific disabilities should be portrayed by disabled talents of the same or similar disability. For maximum authenticity and inclusion, hire talent that corresponds to the disability of the character (i.e. do not hire a physically disabled actor for Deaf parts).*

- a. Having disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying talent as character in lead role: 5 pts
- b. Having disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying talent as character in supporting role: 4 pts
- c. Having disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying talent as character with acting role: 3 pts
- d. Having disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying talent as extra/background character: 2 pts
- e. Having disabled, neurodivergent, Deaf character portrayed by a non-disabled, neurotypical, hearing actor: -1 pt

Notes:

Category 2: Pre/production/post hired disabled, neurodiverse, and Deaf staff

- d. Disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf producer or HOD (minimum of two positions of influence): 2 pts
- e. At least one disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying producer or HOD: 1 pt
- f. No disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf-identifying person in position of influence or HOD: -1 pt

Notes:

Category 4: Subject matter/story

*Stereotypical portrayals of disability resource: Road Map for Inclusion: Changing the Face of Disability in Media by Judith Heumann

a. Seamless integration of disability, Deaf, neurodiversity, and story (no focus on disability,( i.e. when a character wears glasses, there is not an explanation for why they do so, it's just part of the identity): 5 pts

b. Seamless integration of disability, Deaf, neurodiversity, and story (disability is featured as part of human experience, but the story is not centered around the disability (i.e. everyone is different, no stereotypical portrayals of disability): 4 pts

c. Outdated writing & production: has 1 stereotypical portrayal of disability* but well-intentioned integration of disability, Deaf, neurodiversity, and story (disability is featured but not centered): 3 pts

d. Outdated writing & production: has 2 stereotypical portrayals of disability*, Deaf, neurodiversity, and story (disability is featured but not centered): 2 pts

e. Outdated writing & production: has 3 stereotypical portrayals of disability*, Deaf, neurodiversity, and story (disability is featured but not centered): 1 pt

f. Negative portrayal of disability: story consists of numerous outdated stereotypical portrayals of disability* (disability is not featured as part of human experience): 0 pt

g. Negative portrayal of disability: story consists of religious customs/practices to "heal" or drive evil spirits out of disabled body (disability is not featured as part of human experience): -1 pt

Notes:

Category 5: Project development status

- a. "Complete, in the can". (The term 'in the can' comes from early cinema, where finished rolls of film were put into cans to be shipped to cinemas.) high production value, hired disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf workers, has audio description and captions, ready for licensing: 5 pts
- b. "Complete, in the can." Lower budget scale, hired disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf workers, has audio description and captions, ready for licensing: 4 pts
- c. Finished pre production, in some level of production, script has been vetted, looking for funding, has included audio description and captions in budget, will hire disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf workers: 3 pts
- d. Currently in pre-production, has included audio description and captions in budget, plans to hire disabled, neurodivergent, and Deaf workers: 2 pts
- e. Currently in pre-production, no plans to hire disabled, neurodivergent, or Deaf workers, has audio description and captions in budget: 1 pt
- f. Currently in pre-production, has not included audio description and captions in budget, no plans to hire disabled, neurodivergent, or Deaf workers: -1 pt ***

*If the project does not have captions and audio description - or does not plan to - the project gets a negative one in this category. <sup>1</sup>

1IN4 Coalition – History

Launched in 2021, the 1IN4 Coalition (1IN4) is an intersectional coalition of disabled creatives currently working in Hollywood focused on long-term institutional shifts to increase access, employment, and authentic representation for disabled people in the entertainment industry.

1IN4 is focused on increasing employment and allyship of disabled people by creating and supporting initiatives that break down the barriers between Hollywood and the disabled community, at every level of content creation. This includes employing disabled people, telling authentic stories, and igniting change for the 1.3 billion disabled people around the world.
